Reviews \

Certainly a record that lives up to its title, Kieronononon's fourth EP again falls under their 'brutaltechnopunk' label of previous releases. Fun is the name of the game and it sounds like the band are on an all-week bender with Oliver Reed, George Best and David Hasselhoff. Sounding like 'Egg Raid On Mojo'-era Beastie Boys flirting with pounding techno beats and machine gun guitars, they never let the listener settle; endings are abrupt and songs eclectic.:

Alan Baillie - subba-cultcha.com

Personally I think it's a refreshing change they've brought to the usual generic efforts that experimentalism insists on churning out without really showing the slightest inclination to meddle a bit. But here it is, turned on it's head and coming at ya from the obscurest of angles. Perfection, really, and tailor made for those who are musically intelligent enough to appreciate something a bit different. Here's to them!

Mark Whiffin - tastyfanzine.org.uk

Anyway, the new EP is pretty good.

Decent production, well structured & whether you particularly like the music or not, it's genuinely interesting to listen to.

If I was going to give it some kind of arbitrary rating so that you can judge it by my opinion then I'd give it some stars out of a few.

Remix Packs\

We've been asked a few times whether we mind people making remixes of our songs, and in each case we've sent along all the little bits necessary to create something. However instead of that this time we've gone the whole hog and made Kieronononon Remix packs!

E-mail us your questions, pictures and other random crap to roxxor2mail@googlemail.com. All featured e-mail writers will receive a free thing! It will probably be a copy of our new EP, but it might also be (if your e-mail is very good) a Kieronononon t-shirt or similar!

Dear Kireonononononon

My (ex)boyfriends dad last night was sure that goatboy lives next door to him. He remembers seeing you at my birthday party and swore on his life it is you. If so, would you like to come round for tea one day? Also would you mind saying hello every once in a while when you see him? Also he said you'd shaved your beard off! Isn't that a trademark look!?? Do you think you'll be successful without it?
Thanks Becky Maslen.

Goatboy: I don't believe that I attended your birthday party, so he must be mistaken. Have there been any other symptoms? Such as memory loss, believing a dead relative is still alive, problems with planning and organising, frequent falls, tremors, or hallucinations?

floatstarpx: goatboy didn't make it to the birthday party. Me and AwesomeKev had to eat marshmallows on our own.

Goatboy: The beard is still here, and I attribute about 70% of the success of Kierononononon to it - so it wont be going any time soon - until we do an unmasked tour like Kiss!
I'd love to go round to your boyfriends dads house for tea - and if you send a picture, I'd be more than happy to say hello once in a while, or whenever I see him.

orta: I don't think it is his trademark look, Goat Boy actually changes his style occasionally, unlike the ever metal looking floatstarpx, he probably grew his beard and long hair in the womb and just decided to leave it like that. Wait he was never at the party?!?

AwesomeKev: It was an honest mistake. All these goats look the same.

This and the rest of our questions are all from ZeroEcho, who sent it in one huge mega email, so we've split it up into separate questions.

Kérem a számlát, Érti?

Goatboy: There is only one member of Kieronononon who really has a working knowledge of foreign, so unless it's in GCSE French, or basic Italian, you're just going to be met with deep disappointment.

orta: google translates says: Helen Shep doesn't have AIDS?.
Hrm, that's a strange question...

What is your favourite computer game (I want single player and multiplayer) and why?

Goatboy: I pretty much only play games where you can level up and become all powerful and as a result not have to have any skill to complete. So Castlevania, Final Fantasy etc. Favourite multiplayer game is probably rockband, because rocking out in real life sometimes just doesn't cut it. And neither, Dinosaurs all the way, but seeing as you're forcing me, robots.

floatstarpX: Favourite? Ever? F-Zero GX..

orta: AwesomeKev and I enjoy a good game of Team Fortress 2 or Left4Dead nowadays AwesomeKev: I like it when your girlfriend takes it out of her mouth and puts it into her sisters. This doesn't tend to happen frequently, though it can sometimes happen on birthdays.

orta: does that count as a multiplayer game AwesomeKev?

Will Kieronon ever try and realise a more pop based EP to broaden their appeal past the underground? An album full of the likes of Squirting 101 and St. Jerome's would be interesting orta: Who knows? We're still working on the next CD. It's gonna be a full-length, so we have more time to play with.

Goatboy: If we did that then we'd just be like what Jimmy Eat World would be if they woke up thinking they were the Offspring, and that would sound like dick floatstarpx: No. And since when is Squirting 101 accessible?

orta: I think people just like the fact that they can learn nearly all the lyrics in one go. And Goatse's point is quite valid, these songs come out the way they do because that's how we feel at the time of recording, trying to force something would probably end up sucking.

floatstarpx: oh, is that the point he was trying to make?

Which are better, pirates, robots or ninjas?

Goatboy: Neither, Dinosaurs all the way, but seeing as you're forcing me, robots.

floatstarpx: I choose dinosaurs too.

orta: Techno Vikings...when I think of ninjas I can only think of the "ask a ninja guy", and that's hardly ninja - he's got an american accent. And robots are only cool in games, books and movies. Wow. But the one man who stands out, and stands for techno and all things rockin' is the techno viking.

He gets my vote.

AwesomeKev: Well if i'm a boy I play as Dolph Lundgren. If I'm a girl I play as Grace Jones, she's all normal. They are easy characters to role.

in addition to sending us an email we were also given a guest column from Becky Maslen, this does indeed mark our first guest column that is notably off topic, but what do we care. Still unsure how you pronounce Louboutins. . - orta

I was going to write a nice column about kieronononon, however I would like to turn you attention to shoes. I am currently selling some nice shoes called Christian Louboutins. They retail at £300+ however I am selling them at a SUPREME price of only £80! I have sizes 5UK and 6UK for sale and I have 7UK and 8UK on order. If you have a girlfriend you should buy them for her because they make girls really happy. Victoria Beckham walks round in them all day, especially when she is walking her dogs. Check out my page on ebay <http://myworld.ebay.co.uk/beckymaslen1987> so kierononon are great and all that, but shoes are better.

We were also lucky enough to have a copy of Mr Keek's top 10 Nintendo ds games.
