

Ki ER ononon Kommmuniqué

Featuring

K[^]on Kompare

The Queen

Emo Poetry

Q&A

Issue 8

Upcoming gig

/ July 23 /
Fox and Firkin
South London

supporting
Let Our Enemies Beware

An event with her royal highness the Queen of England ... and orta.

So I got to visit the palace at buckingham... It was pretty stiff upper lip and all that. Cameras were banninated so there's no good pics, just a few snaps on the iPhone that almost got me kicked out by beef eaters.

When I arrived I had to sit around in a queue for an hour to get in. The security wasn't major, I've had worse in Rio, and the sun was sometimes shining and the rain was sometimes raining. Inside they were serving Tea. So I jumped into the toilets and posted to twitter. These kind of things are compulsory don't you know.

After popping in and out of Buckingham Palace and getting out into the queens garden we just had to wait 10 minutes before the Royals arrived. When they did they meet and greeted people and I just saw them from a few meters away, I didn't have a K Hole with me (security went through all our bags) and I don't have much interesting to say. So I saw the queen, it was the same as if you'd seen her on TV, but more HD.

After the queen got out, it rained. And Rained. And Rained. Then it stopped for 10 minutes. Then it rained. Then it stopped. In those two luls, I managed to get out and scarper. As did everyone else. Anyway, they served a good cup of tea, and I'm pretty sure a waitress kept hitting on me. She had some good coffee eclairs.

This weeks Emo Poetry Corner is bought to you by Dark Rose, who recently split up with his girlfriend.
Take it away Master Rose

My heart cracks like a falling sun
After a black bullet shot from your gun
Drives straight into my chest
When I cared for you the best
Night consumes me and harnesses my tears
After all the times you reassured my fears
A rose bleeds the dew of a new day
But all I do is cry, I've nothing to say
A red tear spills from my wrist
How could you reduce me to this
Even though it was just a week
You hurt me and I hope you can't sleep

To see your poetry in Emo Corner, send entry, name and photo to:
roxor2mail@googlemail.com The best entry wins a complementary poster !!!!

Q & A

E-mail us your questions, pictures and other random crap to roxxor2mail@googlemail.com . We'll choose the best of the bunch and reply to them in the next issue of kommunique. All featured e-mail writers will receive a free thing! It will probably be a copy of our new EP, but it might also be (if your e-mail is very good) a Kieronononon t-shirt or similar!

Q: With your music demonstrating so many influences from the king of pop, how long do we have to wait for the Michael Jackson tribute album? You know a brutaltechnopunk cover of Earth Song is what the world needs to heal those wounds....

-- Jon

orta: I'm just not that into Jacko, I think moar disney covers are needed in my opinion Jon.

floatstarp: Hi Jon and thanks for your e-mail! You're right - there's a big pair of shoes to be filled there, and I think brutaltechnopunk is the answer. We will become the new King Of Pop.

goatboy: I think Earth Song to the tune of Common People is the way to go. keep 'em coming. Thanks for your e-mail Jon.

*Q: Hola Kieronnyronnyronnyron boyz.
Now, I know that you guys have got serious beef. But I was wondering, what is your favourite type of meat?*

-- Benjamin

Ps., children, ladies and tofu do NOT count.

goatbuoy: I was always a fan of steak when I ate meat - but now I can't stand the stuff, so can I go with Linda McCartney sausages?

orta: I'm a fan of hot dog sausages. Being the only meatatarian in our social group means they are usually the muchroomey Linda McCartney types, still good, but you're missing the slipperyness in the hot dog ones.

orta: And I guess float just likes beating his meat.

float: oh yeah. my favourite type of meter is a thermomeater. very good for seeing the temperature of something.

Goatbuoy: I thought it would be baromeater

Kierononon Kompare Jam on toast

This month's Kierononon Kompare challenge is OWN BRAND JAM. We will each be buying a different supermarket's own brand jam (strawberry flavour), and then having some toast. Which jam will reign supreme?

This is a difficult task as there is nothing to compare with. Only through a review can we reach a conclusion.

orta - COOP

I'm never quite sure how to deal with jam. Is it normal to add butter before? I wasn't sure of this and there was no-one to ask but 4chan. We'll get to anonymous' answer towards the end of the review. As I didn't know I took the cheap way out and did both. So I was impressed by my choice of jam, breakfast was satisfying and I felt that I had a great choice, so much so that in writing this review I had a second helping of toast and jam. Anon's answer to this pertinent question was 'Eurofags suck'.

goat-bouy - SAINSBOS

I had this jam on Warburtons Toastie Bread which is extra thick and Sainsburys Butterlicious margarine. I must admit that I'm impressed, it has a nice colour, doesn't taste like melted boiled sweets and doesn't have those horrible lumps in. In general I prefer raspberry, and I don't think that this experience is going to change my opinion, but I'm certainly pleasantly surprised. On a less positive note it did not spread evenly and I found myself digging holes in my toast.

floatstarpx - TESCO

This is alright. I have put my jam on TESCO OWN BRAND VALUE BREAD, medium sliced. I have been using a higher quality of butter than both the bread and jam - but this does not seem to have had any adverse effects. So far I would say that I am satisfied with this jam, but will it stand the test of time???

Also I would like to write about the DRAGONFRUIT I bought - it's red and a bit like a large kiwi fruit.

Scores

goat-buoy	float	orta
Colour: 	Texture: 	Graphics: ***
Taste: 	Value: *	Replayability: *****
Spreadability : 	Longetivity : 	Length: ****
Satisfaction: *	Flavour: 	Music: *

I think the conclusion is that Goat's jam was the best, because he's the only person who actually talked about it for the entire paragraph. In addition to that his has the most stars in the ratings, so it obviously wins on that.

Thanks!

In Komm 7 ZeroEcho averted a disaster by ensuring we didn't accidentally duplicate two whole pages of the Kommunique, saving everyone a few seconds of glancing over the pages. Other than that Zero nor Kieronononon could find any issues!

Awesome Jam on Toast pic from tinybanquet
Awesome Dragon Fruit pic from Nostrumoo